

Invitation for the seventh Health Policy Workshop:

Can health insurance competition work?

The Netherlands Bureau for Economic Policy Analysis (CPB), The Dutch Healthcare Authority (NZa), and the Tilburg Law and Economics Center of Tilburg University (TILEC) jointly organize a series of 'Health Policy Workshops'. These workshops cover relevant and highly debated topics in health care, and provide a platform for knowledge exchange and discussion between policy makers and researchers working in this field.

Date, time and location:

Date: Friday, June 5, 2015

Time: 13.30 hrs – 17.30 hrs

Location: Ministerie van VWS, Apollozaal, Parnassusplein 5, Den Haag.

Travel info: <http://www.government.nl/ministries/vws/contact>

Entrance is free if you register before June 1, 2015 by sending an email to M.M.vanGenk@uvvt.nl

Topics

In 2006, a new health care system with regulated competition was implemented in the Netherlands in which competing health insurers buy care on behalf of their consumers. The goal of this reform was to improve the efficiency in the health care sector. After almost ten years, it is time to evaluate our health care system and decide whether it has been a success.

Several questions will be discussed during the workshop:

- Did health insurers take up their role of stimulating providers to become more efficient?
- Do savings in the health care sector end up by consumers?
- What policies should be considered to increase efficiency in the health care sector?
- What are good instrument for the government to control health care expenditure without decreasing incentives for efficiency?

Speakers

- Professor Liran Einav of Stanford University, USA
- Professor Jan Boone of Tilburg University, The Netherlands
- Ernst van Koesveld, Director Health Insurance of the Dutch Ministry of Health, Welfare and Sport
