

Come to the CPB Open Day

6 December 2023

Contributing to better policies for everyone in the Netherlands. Conducting scientific research that enables politicians and policymakers to take well-considered decisions. If that appeals to you, CPB Netherlands Bureau for Economic Policy Analysis is the place to be. Come to our Open Day in The Hague on Wednesday, 6 December 2023 for information on internships, jobs and/or PhD research.

How much are the climate measures costing and how can the climate targets be achieved? What does the new government policy mean for purchasing power? What does the high inflation rate mean for households and how is it impacting the economy? What is the expected trend in poverty, for Dutch people as a whole and specifically for children?

These are just a few of the questions/issues addressed by the scientific researchers at CPB Netherlands Bureau for Economic Policy Analysis.

The Open Day is an opportunity to get to know the work of CPB and our economists and econometricians.

Working at CPB means:

- Conducting scientific research that is important to society.
- Getting straight down to work as part of a team of active researchers. You will fit in immediately, whether as an employee or an intern.
- Nice, enthusiastic colleagues to work with and share social activities.
