(a) The alternative CPI takes into account prices of both new and existing energy contracts.

See par. 1.4 of the 'Central Economic Plan-CEP-2023-Verdieping' (link) for more information on the alternative cpi series and see CBS (link).

(b) The NOW wage cost subsidy, and the continuity contribution to health care, have a downward effect of 1.6%-points in 2021 and 2022.

(c) The alternative cpi has been taken into account for the median purchasing power figures and the persons in poverty.

(d) The ratio of the number of persons in households below the poverty line and the total number of persons.

The modest-but-adequate budget of the Netherlands Institute for Social Research has been used as the poverty line.
